DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 2, 5 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
3. Claim 2 recites the limitation "the analysis" in lines 1 and 2 of claim 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.
4. Claim 5 recites the limitation "the analysis" in lines 2 and 3 of claim 5. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.
5. Claim 7 recites the limitation "the zinc chloride method or steam activation method" in lines 2 and 3 of claim 7. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102/103

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148

USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

9. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

10. Claims 1, 2, 6, and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Stelkens (GB 354,942).

11. Regarding Claim 1: Stelkens discloses a coffee composition where poisonous substances are removed [page 1, lines 12-26 and Page 1, lines 95-106]. The coffee grounds in Stelkens are treated using a very similar process as in the instant specification [See instant Application Example 7] and as such would be expected to produce a coffee composition having significantly reduced levels/removal of the poisonous substance HHQ. Stelkens and Example 7 in the instant application both take coffee grounds and activated carbon and mix them together, water is added and then the mixture is filtered.

12. Alternatively, because Stelkens uses a similar activated chloride method as discussed in the instant claim, it would have been obvious that the treatment of coffee grounds with activated carbon would result in a coffee product having significantly reduced levels/removal of poisonous substances such as HHQ and to continue to reduce the levels of undesirable chemicals such as HHQ in coffee by using the activated carbon method, until the desired level/removal of the poisonous substance was obtained. Stelkens' failure to specifically recite the removal of the named substance HHQ does not negate the fact that a poisonous substance such a HHQ is removed by the activated carbon method.

13. Regarding Claim 2: Stelkens discloses a coffee composition treated in a similar manner as described above and as such the coffee composition would be expected to have similar characteristics or properties when analyzed by HPLC as described in the instant claim.

14. Alternatively, because Stelkens discloses a coffee composition treated in a similar manner as discussed in the instant claim, it would have been obvious that the coffee composition would have similar properties when analyzed by HPLC as the coffee composition in the instant claims.

15. Regarding Claim 6: Stelkens discloses treatment via activated carbon [lines 96-99].

16. Regarding Claim 7: Stelkens discloses carbon activated by the zinc chloride method [lines 96-100].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

17. Claims 3 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Stelkens (GB 354,942) in view of Schlichter (US Patent Number 3,615,666).

18. Regarding Claim 3: Stelkens discloses a coffee composition treated to remove poisonous materials as discussed above but does not disclose a soluble coffee composition. However, Schlichter discloses a soluble coffee composition [col. 1, lines 4-9].

19. At the time of the invention it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art having the teachings of Stelkens and Schlichter before him or her to modify the composition of Stelkens to include a soluble coffee composition as in Schlichter because it provides an faster alternative to the traditional brewed coffee as desired by consumers.

20. Regarding Claim 8: Stelkens discloses the coffee composition as discussed above but do not disclose spray drying or freeze drying the composition. However, Schlichter discloses a composition made by freeze drying or spray drying [col.3, lines 51-55].

21. At the time of the invention it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art having the teachings of Stelkens and Schlichter before him or her to modify the composition of Stelkens to include a soluble coffee composition as in Schlichter because it provides an faster alternative to the traditional brewed coffee as desired by consumers.

22. Claims 4 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Stelkens (GB 354,942) in view of Behrman (US Patent Number 2,430,663).

23. Regarding Claim 4: Stelkens discloses a coffee composition as discussed above but does not specify providing the coffee in a package. Behrman discloses a packaged dry coffee composition [col.1, lines 6-10].

24. At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art having the teachings of Stelkens and Behrman before him or her to modify the coffee composition of Stelkens to include a packaging mechanism because it maintains the qualities and flavors of coffee [Behrman col.1, lines 24-27].

25. Regarding Claim 5: Stelkens discloses a coffee composition and as such would be expected to have similar properties as analyzed by HPLC as discussed above and Behrman discloses packaging the coffee product as discussed above.
